sia Key West, received yesterday, give the following account of the battle near Loo Lanus on the 16th ult: A reconnoltering purty was sent out by Gen. Quesuda, numbering 300 cmen. In the afternoon of the same day this force was attacked by largely superior number, but succeeded, with a loss of 55 killed, wounded, and missing, in regaining the main shody. The Commanding General prepared for an attack, which did not take place till the 18th. On the morning of that day Gen. Valmaseda was reported as approaching with a large force of cavalry, artillery, and infantry, and preparations were immediately made to receive him.

Shortly after suurise the Spaniards hade their appearance, and immediately commenced the fight with artillery, which made but little impression on the Cubans, when the infantry were brought up, and a charge upon the Cuban position was ordered. The Cubans goserved their fire till the Spaniards seeme within range, when the order to fire was given, and it was so effective that the Spaniards were thrown into disorder and fell back to the protection of the artillery.

After some three hours the attack was renewed by Almaseda's entire force, number-

The beauty and intelligence of the stown and adjoining towns were present in brilliant array. The windows and front portice of the building, and the hundreds of trees and evergreess and fragrant shrubbery and arches over the gateways were thuminated with colored lights and lanterns, and the whole presented what a vivid imagination would conceive to be the enchanted palace and grounds off a fairy prince; and here and there throughout the citomize grounds, scated under trees and arbors, were girls as beautiful and epchanting as fairies and gentlemen as gallant as knights of the olden time. These and them many hearts were lost and won in committy style.

THE CURAN QUESTION.

The Daily News to-day has an article on the Outon question. It says a rounor is afont that the proposed purchase of Cuba by the United States found a powerful friend in the Spanish administration. It is difficult to perceive if the rebellion is suppressed in Cuba how a mutual change can be discled smong a defiant and abbjugated people. If rannors have any foundation those considerations may possibly incline this powerful leader to listen lavorshy to an offer from the United States. It is thought his advocacy may obtain great force with the other members of the Government and the people. The I terests of England and France in the West Indies are scarcely interior to those of the United States, and they will have their say before the settle ment be regarded as final. THE BARDSTOWN FAIR.

THE DEADLY FIRE AND CHOKE DAMP.

As there was but one main shaft to the Avondate mine, its ventilation was difficult. It had not been worked for some time, and had not been worked for some time, and much foul air had collected in the dasappiaces. Besude the bad air generated by the men and horses, and by the burning of liampand gunpowder, indiammatic gases issue from crevices in the coal. These gases mingle with the foul air of the mine, and will explode on the approach of a lighted candle. This gas is the fire-damp so much dreaded by the miness. To breath if thirty seconds is sure death.

The ire-damp is composed of carburetted hydrogen, and the choke-damp of carbonic When blasting for coal it will frequently issue in jets called blowers. At times, when the civilies are broken into the coal by picks or crowbars, these blowers will barst out, creating a singing noise by the force current. The great danger is from opening peut-dreservoirs holding under great pressure immense bodies of gas disseminated through large areas of coal, or collected in abandone workings.

should become inflamed, and the explosion follow back into the most remote workings. The partitions across the great gangways along which the coal was run to the shaft, was furnished with doors, which were opened and shut as the coal cars based through. Thus the furnace was the sole means of ventilation. The runs of the disaster will acver be known. At early morn a stream of fire short up the shaft with frightful rapidity, and the buildings above were wrapped in dames so quickly that the engineers and others barely had time to excape. The wood of the shaft citter caught fire from the furoffee, or the nucling biaze came from the lighting of a fire damp within the mine. The dryness of the mine shavors the former supposition, but the sulphurons gases choking the explorers, and the flecthess of the fire, would inducate an ignition of a sire damp. In either, case every soul in the mine has perished. The telegraph has failed to tell us who attended to the furnace, or whether any dead bodies were found in the bottom of the shaft.

The intelly reace from Mississippi is exiremely encouraging. The mort promment and best-informed conservatives assert with entire confidence, that, in the sleetion on the 30th of November, the State will place her:elf squarely abreast of Virginia and Tennessee. Judge Deat, they say, will succeed over the Radieal candidate for the Governorship by an overwhelming majority. We hear nothing of Boutwell's and Creswell's manipulations in Mississippi. We see no letters of theirs. Have they subsided? Are they disgusted with the results of their late electioneeting labors! Have they swora of this loss of propersy, sad as it is, may be told in but few words. a The year 1855, it will be remembered, electioneering labors! Have they swora off from politics—taken the oath of total abstinence!

was a period of great pol'fical excitement in this city. The American party, then but recently organized, was struggling with the old Democratic party for mastery, and in no place was the conflict more and in no place was the conflict more to take the conflict more heated and determined than in this city.

We don't know what sort of logic it may be, but we are disposed to think it a tolerably fair sample of honesty, as times go. A debt's a debt no matter who contracted it or for what purpose it was contracted.

The Press and To from wrongs which they inflicted upon their antagonists. Among the deeds of this class was the burning of the property of William Ambruster, and for which compensation is now asked of the City Council.

The Press and Times, however, follow-ing the wake of the Cincinnati Commer-cial, unintentionally misquotes us. The Confederate debt could not be repudiated, Ambruster was a German, owning a val-uable browery and dwelling-house at the upper end of Jefferson street. He was a and we have not referred to it in that connection. It was created at risk of the holder, the bonds and notes stipulating that he was not to be paid until six months after the independence of the Confederate States should be recognized by the Government of the United States. But the Government of the United States. But the Government of the United States were concealed on his property to be used the Government of the United States. But the debts of the various States were contracted under different conditions. They were contracted in good part. The creditors who held them were of all conditions and every country. It is stated in the petition that the value power, it would have so economized its administration of public affairs, and so managed the national finances as to save enough and make enough to settle with the bondbolders. As it is, the Republican party, by its wasteful and riotous proceedings by its process of negro suffrage, which its process of negro suffrage is not necessarily and the process of the property thus destroyed was $24,000 at the date of destruction; and that by the act of the Kentucky Legislature, approved February 29, 1860, the city is liable for that the date of destruction; and that by the act of the Kentucky Legislature, approved its process. The Love place, in Amherst county, Va., about two miles from Lyachburg, consisting of thirty-five acree, with an old and dilapidated brick house, was sold last week for $34 50 per acre.

The petitioner, who is his widow, executix and card everying and card every eve paragraph which we quote, expuses itsea and its party. It not only undertakes to pass off a dishonest suggestion for a matter of loyalty, but it does not appear to be aware of its exhibition of dishonesty, and prosecuting that suit to judgment, has presented her petition to the City Council for a compromise upon the claim. She gives as a reason for this course not as a moral question, but as a point in logic. The editor of the Press and Times is understood to be a person of culture. He had better, therefore, ransack his conscience as well as his library. smoking match with the championship between him and General Grant.

There is said to be a fifteen-year-old boy in Portage county, Ohio, who has been a constant chewer of tobacco for fourteen years and seven months. Being a nervous and fretful young rascal in early inflancy, they put a piece of tobacco in his mouth one day, and, as it seemed to soothe him into better manners, they repeated the experiment so often that before the boy could talk plainly he became "a regular tobacco worm."

"Who is Captain Hokodadi?" was the question the other day when the Wostern papers published this cable dispatch from Paris: "Captain Hokodadi has been confirmed by the Mikado." Everybody wanted to feel gratified at the Captain's confirmation, but mobody could exactly "locate him." It was an extended to the captain's confirmation, but a full the cable of the captain of I skodadi by the Mikado has been confirmed." A of thus a most estimable officer proved to be a myth.

A Comparison Between Louisville and the "Queen City of the West"—Railroad Batters—Franchers in Summer—The Galt House, &c.

[Correspondence of the Conrier-Journal.]

That Louisville, in point of location and is many other respects as a city, is far shead of Chelonati, no unprefudeded mind clan day, but let any one take a city, is far shead of Chelonati, no unprefudeded mind clan day, but let any one take a citye a few miles into the country around each of these rivals of the Ohio tiver, and the markeds advantage of the Ohio tiver, and the markeds advantage of the Ohio tiver, and the markeds advantage of the Improvements around the latter cannot fail to strike the eye of the attentive observer. The location of Louisville, situated as she is in a broad and fertile plain, and dabstantially at the head of navigation on the Ohioriver, has enabled her to apread her wings and extend her borders unopposed by any natural barriers. Shill, herestofore, she has lacked in liberality and energy and foreagilt on the part of her people. Nature had equived man, with the simighty foliar, to come to the sid of nature and devalop the resources which she had piaced so levishly and templingly before him. For many long years these resources were shamefully and outpally neglected. The capitalists of Louisville, until ately, seemed to have slept at their posts.

allowed Cincinnati and St. Louis to outstrip her in the march of advancement and improvement. Both of the latter, and especially this city, owe their increase of population and trace over Louisville to the superior energy, tact, and liberality of those who controlled their destiny in former years, as compared with like qualities on the part of those wao shaped the policy of the City of the Falis darling the same period. Without attempting to show how this is true in reference to St. Louis, it will be only accessary, so far as this place is concerned, to examine the map and see how she is situated. Cut off by nature from opportunities that belong to a bundred other politic was the Ohioriver, with hills and awamps around her, calculated to deter instead of invite capitalwith no outset to the guit, except through an artificial with the course and the controlled with the course of the controlled controlled to the course of the controlled controlled to the course of the co would wish to pay the amount subscribed.

The Choys.

It is impossible to give any definite information as regards the corn crop. Farmers, as a gueral thing, are apt to underestimate the actual yield. The first part of the summer promised an abundant erop, but it will certainly not come up to what was expected, hence a general failure is resported; but I think we can safely depend upon a two-thirds average. Wheat still continues low, and until it advances we need not consider the corn crop a failure.

FIRE IN THE SUBURBS.

About he f-peat II of clock fast night a fire slarm sounded from Chestnut and Hancek, but high light to the southeast, as of some large building burning, being visible at that point, cuited by the light, two ongines of the fire depastment were taken to the corner of shelby and the best and of the corner of shelby and the best and of the corner of shelps and the best and of the corner of the best and the corner of the best and the corner of the best and the corner of the c vention of the spread of the flames, to be of any avail.

The stable belonged to Akers A Wellich, who had in it eight borses and six nuices, every one of which perished in the flames. Nothing whaterer was saved from the burning building, the door having been securely locked and there happening to be nobedy about with presence of mind enough to break it in. There was no possible mode of exress for the poor animals, and they burn to death in their stalls. After the fire their charred and crisped carcasses lay about in the black and smoking tule, a terrible picture to look upon.
